REGISTER: <http://snipurl.com/26bxvt>

This second webcast in a series is sponsored by a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice, Office of Justices Programs, Bureau of Justice Assistance. Public concern is high when sex offender cases are before the court. Judges must sentence those charged with sex offenses using the best information available. Judge Sage will lead the interactive discussion to examine the sentencing decision and its implications. After this webcast, participants will be able to identify the sentencing factors a judge may consider, determine the necessary information that should appear in the sentencing report, and analyze the continuum of sentences and probation violations.

ETHICS IN THE EVERYDAY COURT: THIRD IN A SERIES

*Instructor: Hon. Michael Keasler,
Texas Court of Criminal Appeals,
Austin, Texas*

October 26, 2011, 3 p.m.-4:15 p.m. ET
(12 p.m.-1:15 p.m. PT) | TUITION: $50

REGISTER: <http://snipurl.com/26bxcc>

Ethical issues impact members of the judicial profession on a daily basis. Judges and court systems face constant scrutiny and criticism by the public, and judges regularly confront ethical issues in both their professional and personal lives. Providing judges with an up-to-date understanding of the ABA Model Code of Judicial Conduct gives them tools to assist them in maintaining and raising ethical standards and public perceptions of their courts and the entire court system. This session will focus on self-represented litigants, ex parte communications, and the intersection of social media and the courtroom.
